

First Responder Program

HMI helps organizations recover from catastrophic events that impact outdoor property. Immediate response to a disaster may determine whether your company can fully recover to operate safely and serve customers. HMI's First Responder Program is the leading authority for disaster recovery when outdoor property has been impacted.

Your Expert Solution When Disaster Strikes

As large-scale catastrophic events occur, damage to outdoor property assets can produce significant losses. When a disaster event causes damage, HMI's First Responder Program offers exclusive access to experts for inspections, evaluations and restoration of outdoor property such as trees, landscaping, turf, hardscapes, irrigation systems, and more.

HMI can serve clients anywhere in the US, and with two decades of experience, HMI has become the gold standard for disaster recovery involving outdoor property. The ability to mobilize nationally is a key component to the success of our First Responder Program, and this guarantees our clients access to qualified and professional resources following a disaster event.

HMI offers clients access to more than 2,000 fully credentialed tree crews and thousands of certified arborists landscapers, agronomists, water management experts, golf course construction professionals, and other subject matter experts. Rely on the green industry experts who have assisted thousands of property owners in the recovery from catastrophic events.
